Recall Governor Dunleavy Campaign Launch Rescheduled to August 1st

Overwhelming public interest prompts Recall Dunleavy Campaign to Level Up.

An informational gathering addressing the recall effort will happen Monday, July 15, with a petition and campaign launch Aug. 1

The Recall Dunleavy Campaign has received so much interest from Alaskans throughout the state and political spectrum that the organizers have rescheduled the initial signing event to better accommodate voters who want to support the recall effort.

“Our grassroots group launched an event announcement and press release on July 11th that has been seen by over 50,000 Alaskans despite it being a single post with no money spent,” said Meda DeWitt. “We initially wanted to hold a small kickoff event to gain our first 100 sponsors, but clearly, getting those first signatures is not going to be a problem.”

Since the initial press release went out, seven of Alaska’s top legal experts have worked together to review the legal grounds for recall to make sure that Alaskans sign a petition that can withstand the inevitable legal challenges.

The campaign’s co-leaders will meet with the public at The Writer’s Block from 7 to 9 pm Monday, July 15, to explain the recall process, answer questions, and share ways of volunteering.

The petition launch is now rescheduled for August 1 at a location TBA.
